Step 1 — How to Fix a Broken Necklace Chain

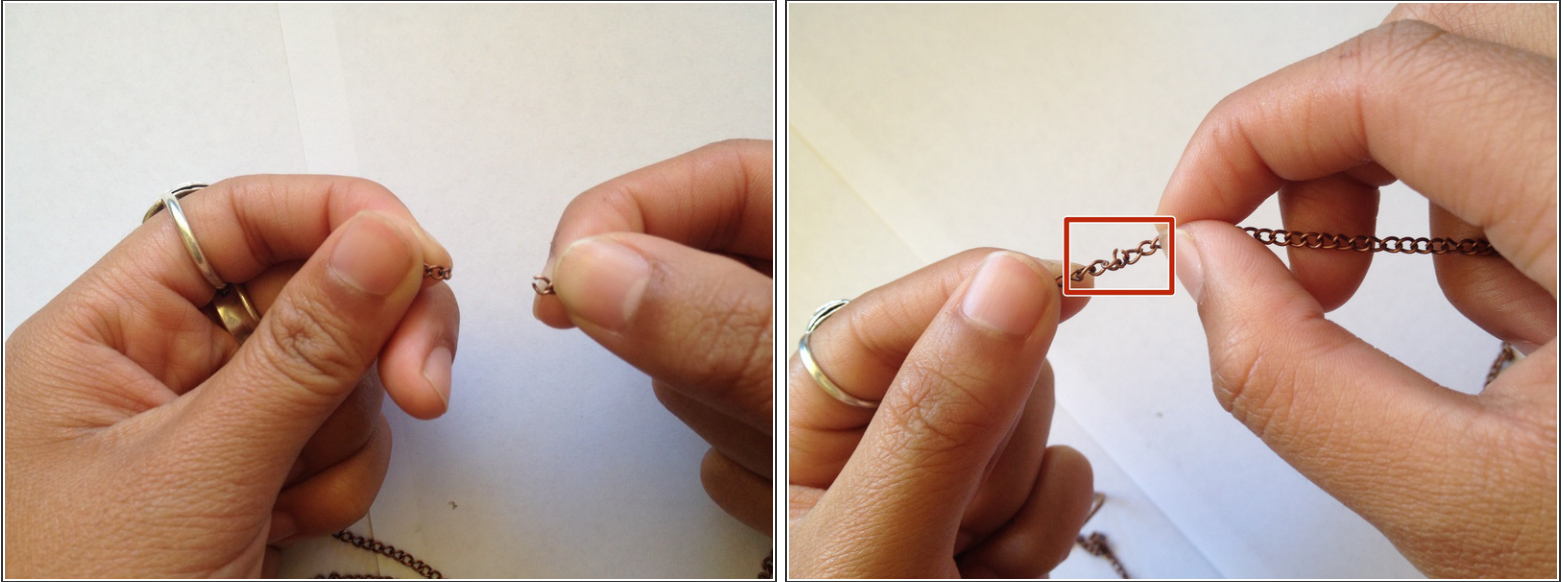

- Examine the break.
 - ❗ If there is an open link in the chain, skip to step three.

Step 2

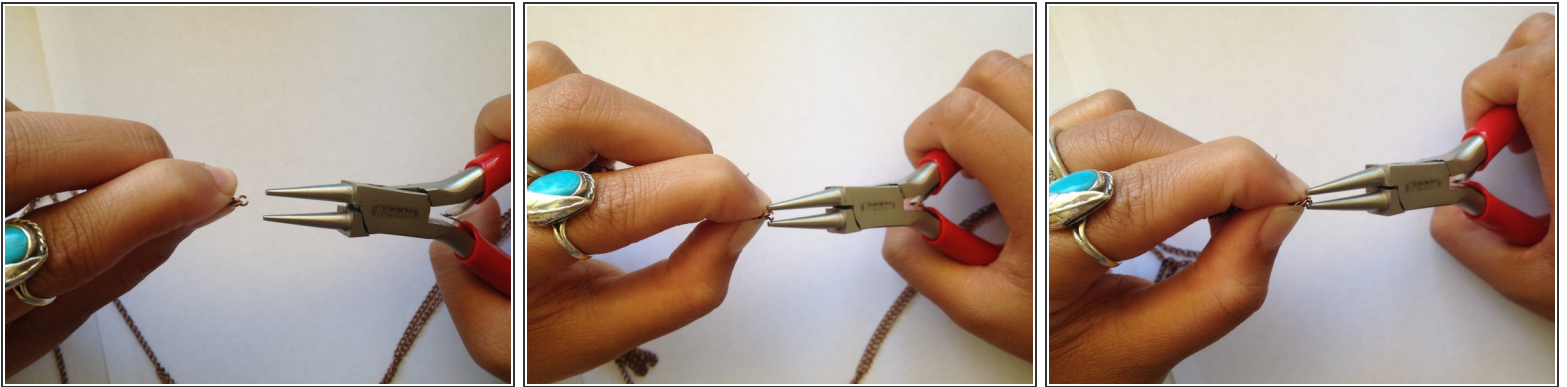

- Use the needle nosed pliers to separate the closure of a link on one side of the break.
 - ❗ You do not need this step if your necklace already has an open link.

Step 3

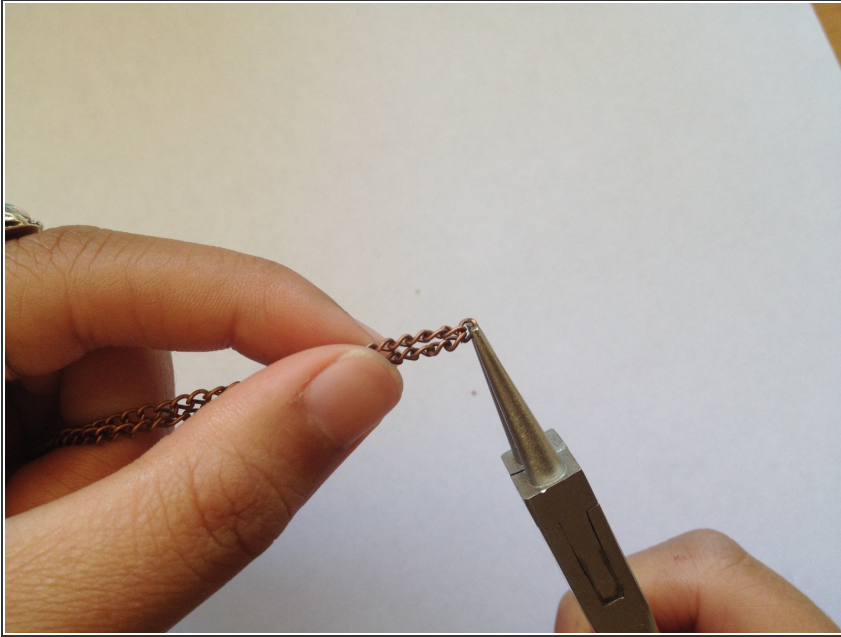

- Hook the closed link opposite the break to the open link.

Step 4

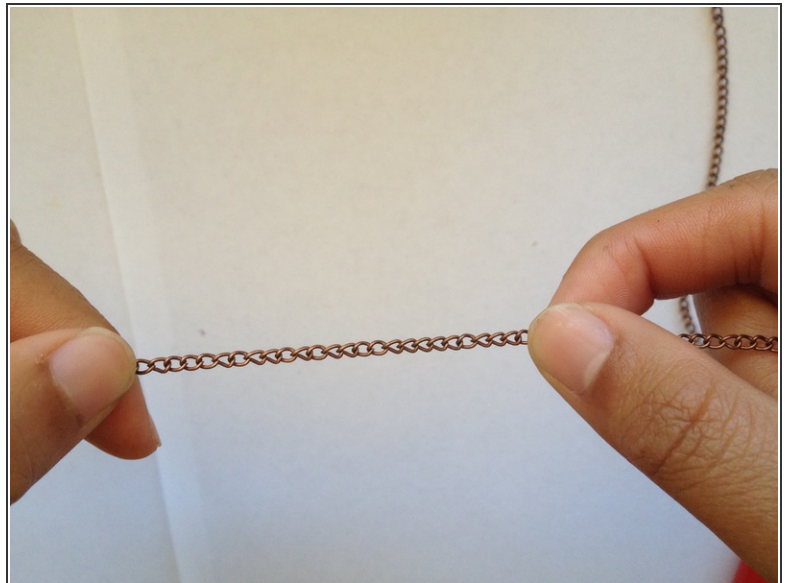

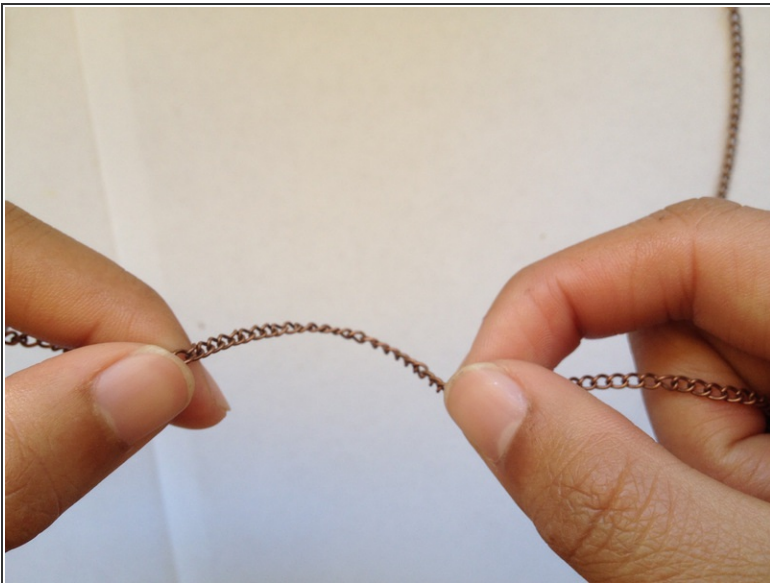

- Using the needle nosed pliers, squeeze the ends of the open link together.
 - ⓘ Make sure the closed link is inside the open link.

Step 5

- Using the needle nosed pliers, squeeze the closure so that the ends of the link are flush with one another.

Step 6

- Test the closure by gently pulling it from either side. If it comes apart repeat steps 4 and 5.

Now you're ready to flaunt your old necklace once again!
